

SEND Information Report

September 2023

As part of the Children and Families Bill 2014, all Local Authorities and schools are required to make available to families details of how they can support children and young people with special education needs and / or disability (SEND) age 0 – 25 years. This information is called the 'Local Offer'.

The intention of the Local Offer is to improve choice for families. It is also an important resource for parents and carers in understanding the range of services and provision in the local area.

Central Bedfordshire's Local Offer can be viewed here.

As part of this, every school is required to share details of how individual needs are planned for in their setting. This is known as the SEN Information Report or sometimes the School Offer. The following information aims to help parents and carers understand what support and provision they can expect to receive from The Chiltern School.

The following questions and answers should help you get a feel for our school. If you feel The Chiltern School could meet your child's needs please contact us to enquire about our virtual events and on site tours.

The Chiltern School is an area special school in the South of Central Bedfordshire catering for a wide range of special educational needs and disabilities for learners between 3- 19 years of age.

How does The Chiltern School know they can meet my child's needs?

All children and young people that attend The Chiltern School will have been through an assessment process undertaken by the Local Authority. As part of this assessment their individual needs will have been identified and then documented clearly in their Education, Health and Care Plan.

The school is asked to read the EHCP and consider any additional paperwork and reports describing your child's needs. This is referred to as the school consultation. If it is felt that the school has provision to ensure positive outcomes for your child an agreement is made with the Local Authority. This agreement is finalised at the Local Authority Education Provision Panel and the EHC Team notify parents and carers of the outcome.

The EHCP is reviewed annually (more frequently if your child is under 5 years) and progress towards the outcomes within your child's EHCP are tracked throughout the year. As needs can change over time, the annual review process ensures provision and placement remain appropriate.

How is a decision made about the support my child receives?

The EHCP gives details of the intended provision the local authority believes your child should receive. This is the outline from which we build a personalised approach to support for your child.

Provision of support services in the school can be described in terms of three levels; Universal, Targeted and Specialist input. The level of input is related to assessed specific needs.

Universal All children have access to the universal provision. Key features of this include screening assessment by both therapists, therapeutic strategies recommended for use within the teaching approach, training for teachers, support to enhance the school environment to meet therapeutic needs.

Targeted This is for children who require additional support to meet their needs. Possible features of targeted therapeutic provision may include more specific assessments, some individual sessions, training for teachers tailored to the child's needs, modelling of specific strategies by a therapist and specific advice or support for significant people in the child's life.

Specialist A few children require regular specialist provision from a Therapist to support their needs. Key features of the specialist provision include regular direct therapeutic programmes with the therapist, regular liaison with families and education staff and bespoke programmes of support.

As a specialist environment we are able to meet the needs of the majority of pupils through small class sizes, well resourced classrooms and learning spaces, and experienced staff teams supported by specialists. All pupils will have individual attention as part of their small group work throughout the day, although for most children a constant one to one approach to support can be a barrier to wider interactions and is not promoted. Where children have more complex needs and /or medical conditions, staffing ratios are increased to provide a targeted approach and where specified support is detailed within the EHCP this is implemented.

Where this is required a range of familiar staff will work with the child to ensure a dependency on the presence of a single adult is not created.

All support is reviewed regularly.

How will my child be supported to join the school and how will staff prepare for him / her starting?

Depending on whether your child is not yet at school or has been attending a nursery or school setting, a number of visits will be arranged to help prepare them for a positive start to joining us.

We pride ourselves on an admission process that is personalised to your child's needs. Transition can be a challenging time and we recognise this needs to be well planned in order for both parents / carers and children to feel reassured and valued. We need to get to know you and your child to plan effectively and will always ask to visit you at home to start to understand more about your child, family and support network, this way we can work to agree a plan together.

The admission process typically involves:

- Observation at your child's current educational setting
- A transition meeting between parents/carers, the current setting and The Chiltern School
- A home visit
- A school tour
- Completion of paperwork and consent forms by parents and carers including Home School Communication \(Guidelines for Parents, Carers and Families\)
- A health assessment is completed by the school Nursing Team
- Parent/carer application for school transport if applicable
- Preparation and sharing of any personalised resources to support your child
- Admission through a personalised part-time approach
- An admission review is held after 10 - 12 weeks to ensure appropriate provision and professionals are in place and to discuss how your child has settled

How will the curriculum be matched to my child's needs?

All our pupils have the potential for growth, we are committed to ensuring our learners develop the skills, knowledge and understanding that allows them to be successful learners throughout their lives. Our long-term aim is for pupils to be as best prepared as possible for their future.

Our school is organised in a way to promote the best learning opportunities and most suitable approaches to meet the individual needs of our pupils. This ensures children and young people are taught in line with their developmental stage and that learning makes sense to them all of the time.

We believe in stage not age education, not all pupils in each Learning Pathway will follow the same curriculum. Neither the pathways or the curriculum are static, pupils may move depending on their changing needs and development. Pupils are grouped according to the predominant needs and learning style, this allows for the teaching styles, provision, curriculum and environment to be adapted to best meet the needs of the group.

This structure is called our Learning Pathways, these pathways are:

- Physical and Sensory
- Communication and Interaction
- Cognition and Learning

Learning pathways are fluid; they depend on the whole cohort of pupils, pupils may move between pathways over the course of their school career.

Pupils will join a class with pupils that will be developmentally not chronologically at the same stage as them. We do not have traditional year groups or Key Stage classes. We move pupils at the right time knowing the curriculum offer for each phase.

Early Transitions

Pupils that join us before Year 2 will go into our Early Transitions department. This gives us the opportunity to holistically assess pupils over a period of time and helps determine which pathway and curriculum will best meet their needs

Phase 1

Pupils in Phase 1 will generally be considered to be in the primary age group (Key Stage 1 and 2)

Phase 2

Pupils in Phase 2 will generally be considered to be in the secondary age group (Key Stage 3 and 4)

Phase 3

Pupils in Phase 3 will generally be considered to be in Post 16 age group.

Each pathway delivers a curriculum in line with needs and abilities to ensure learning is purposeful. These are described as the Explore, Evolve and Establish curriculums.

Early Transitions pupils will follow a modified Early Years Framework which supports the acquisition of the early learning skills.
Explore The intention of the Explore curriculum is to enable pupils to develop positive, interactive relationships with others, explore, be curious and engage in the world around them in a meaningful and safe way and establish early communication and cognitive skills.	Evolve The intention of the Evolve is to develop functional life skills, to enjoy learning and engage in opportunities to develop knowledge and skills by revisiting them consistently, developing the ability to generalise these skills to a wider variety of contexts and settings. The intention of the Evolve curriculum is to	Establish The intention of the Establish curriculum is to enable pupils to generalise and transfer skills, whilst establishing their sense of self, independence and life skills. Pupils will take responsibility for their personal actions, influence and make informed decisions

Pupils will learn to make choices and take control of their actions, understanding the impact they can have on their world. It is a curriculum that supports learners' development by employing appropriate approaches that take account of their emotional wellbeing and levels of engagement.	enable pupils to develop the core skills they need to take their place in the wider community as confident and independent communicators, with a strong sense of self. We aim to encourage them to transfer and maintain skills and knowledge into real world contexts. Recognising growth will be gradual, the delivery of the curriculum is meaningful and functional, focusing on tangible, hands-on learning. Learning opportunities are repeated, revisited and will often involve prompting to provide pupils with a breadth of experiences that encourages active engagement in learning.	relating to their future. Pupils will sustain the ability to be physically and emotionally well, communicate their needs and wishes and make a positive contribution to society. Through the Establish curriculum pupils will develop discrete subject knowledge across the subject frameworks, this will not be too abstract, linked to practical activities and relevance to their life experiences. Learning will be consolidated and applied in practical sessions. This 'hands on' approach offers pupils opportunities to embed and establish the skills they have already acquired in a creative way.
Phase 3 curriculum focuses on the Preparation for Adulthood framework

Within the first 6 weeks of your child joining us, staff will develop a Personalised Learning Plan (PLP) and baseline their strengths to determine the starting points for learning in our setting. Short term goals (targets) are produced and these become part of the daily learning that is delivered for your child through the curriculum. These goals are directly linked to the long term outcomes stated in your child's EHCP.

They are tracked, measured and reviewed through the school's assessment tool, Evidence for Learning.

How do you know my child is making progress?

We know that every pupil is unique, so we choose not to have assessment tools designed to compare the progress of a learner with another. Instead we collect evidence to measure progress for pupils against their own learning goals, it is therefore directly related to the context, learner and learning intention. Assessment data is used to inform curriculum development, pedagogy in order to deliver better outcomes for our learners.

We believe that detailed child centred, holistic assessment is key to understanding a pupil's needs which enable staff to provide personalised learning. Assessment enables us to identify priorities and set goals, which then provides a focus for learning. Careful assessment allows us to collect evidence so we can accurately measure the progress of each learner. The data we collect from assessment informs ongoing practice.

Assess, Plan, Do, Review

At The Chiltern School we believe that curriculum, teaching and assessment are inextricably linked. When all three are aligned and of the highest quality, they facilitate effective learning for all pupils, irrespective of their starting points. In turn, this enables pupils to make good progress and gives them the best possible life chances. The curriculum is used as a vehicle for delivering Personal Learning Plan's which detail learning outcomes. A thematic rolling plan is in place which supports a balance of stimulating contexts for learning through different creative experiences, themes and subjects. At The Chiltern School assessment is an integral part of the teaching and learning process. It does not drive the curriculum but enables it.

We assess the child's progress against the child's own Education & Health Care Plan (EHCP) Long Term Outcomes. This ensures we are measuring the most important aspect of the child's development and measuring against their own baseline. These long term outcomes are then broken down into smaller Personal Learning Goals (PLG's) which are reviewed regularly.

The Personalised Learning Goals goals are assessed against a CSD
This is The Continuum of Skill Development which covers 4 aspects; Prompting, Fluency, Maintenance and Generalisation.

Each PLG is graded from 1 – 10 against each aspect of the CSD.
Progress against the 4 aspects from the baseline assessment for a PLG will also be recorded as a numerical value.

If a learner has a baseline of 2 on the CSD for Prompting and moves up to 5, then they have made a gain of 3 over a given time period. Teachers are expected to record the progress against the CSD as and when the learner makes that progress and is done via the Evidence for Learning app – the central assessment database. The data of how much gain a learner has made within a given time period is automatically updated and can be obtained and used for progress reporting at key points throughout the year such as at the annual review and the end of the term or end of the academic year or key stage.

At any point throughout the year, teachers can review progress and make the necessary judgments to move the learner on to a new goal, amend the goal or carry on with the same goal, all the time working towards the broader EHCP Outcome. This is repeated for all Outcomes in their Education, Health and Care Plan.

Depending on the specific needs of the learner, the PLG's may be set broadly to enable pupils to show additional lateral progress. This means progress can be seen in the context of the whole child rather than as very specific measurable steps. A combination of these boards and specific goals enables teachers to cater for higher-achieving pupils as well as to better see any emergent skills and to set up further personalised learning goals based on the previous learning and the learners' interests and talents.

What support will there be for my child's overall wellbeing?

The Chiltern School strongly believes that wellbeing is at the heart of learning and achieving. We recognise the importance of good mental health, helping pupils become emotionally resilient. We want to empower pupils to be aware of their emotions and to understand how they can manage them. Being able to build and maintain positive relationships is vital. We know that when children feel safe and happy they are more likely to be able to engage in learning.

We are proud to be a trauma-informed school and use the ARC model as the foundation. This is a framework that supports our school community to recognise, accept and respond to their daily experiences relating to emotions. The ultimate goal is to support children, adolescents, and caregivers in effective engagement in the world, in a manner that is empowered and future-oriented, rather than focused on survival.

ARC stands for Attachment, Regulation and Competency and is an approach that focuses on:

- A safe caregiving system (Attachment)
- The ability to regulate and tolerate experience (Regulation)
- Support in the mastery of an array of tasks crucial to resilient outcome (Competency)

While trauma is often perceived as the significant life events that result in distress or loss, we know that children and young people with special educational needs can find the world challenging, and more everyday experiences can cause them stress and anxiety. The ARC model offers a nurturing approach where adults develop attuned relationships and provide clear expectations and communication strategies to guide children through stressful situations. The goal is to not only provide tools to cope with extreme situations but to create an underlying culture of respect and support.

This work is supported by our Trauma-Informed Therapist, delivering whole school training and wider support across the school.

Emotional health and wellbeing is at the heart of our curriculum. Opportunities to help young people regulate when they need to are woven into the school day these may include sensory activities, special yoga, access to safe spaces, reflection, yoga, forest school or access to particular items that help soothe and calm. We promote good mental and physical health through explicit and implicit learning opportunities. We are also lucky to have our own school dog, Yogi.

What specialist services or expertise are available or accessed by the school?

We are proud to have a wealth of specialist and experienced staff that make up our school community. We have invested heavily in recent years to ensure that in-school provision is enriched with highly specialist knowledge and ongoing in-house training that maximises opportunities for pupils.

As well as working with external specialists and a wider multidisciplinary team, we additionally employ a Speech and Language Therapist and Sensory Integration Occupational Therapist who are both very much part of the school community. Both have been instrumental in developing the new curriculum, are in school, working in classrooms and are part of wider school support and provision planning. We strongly believe in an integrated approach to intervention, meaning that as much as possible we expect staff teams to be trained and skilled to deliver this throughout daily experiences, and not as a bolt-on activity outside the classroom that is more difficult to link to real life experiences and can be more challenging to generalise and transfer.

How accessible is the school environment?

Our campus is fully accessible.

How will I be able to contribute my views and be involved in my child's education?

We welcome parental contribution, collaborative working and linked up approaches as we believe this is the approach that achieves the best outcomes for all children and young people.

Communication with school regarding learning and daily progress is delivered via Class Dojo, this is an application that you can access through your mobile phone. This has proved a simple and efficient way to share information and retain direct contact between the class teacher and parents/ carers. Class Dojo communications include photographs as well as electronic messages and we know parents and carers enjoy sharing these experiences. (Home School Communication (Guidelines for Parents, Carers and Families))

Other opportunities include:

- Attending termly parent consultation meetings
- Liaison by telephone with the Therapeutic Team and School Nurses to ensure assessments are updated
- Contributing to EHCP review and other school meetings
- Parent questionnaires and surveys delivered electronically
- Events such Fayres or Christmas Celebration
- SOCS -The Chiltern School's parent teacher association(Supporters of The Chiltern School) is made up of both teachers and parents, who have formed a committee to help support the school through a wide range of activities.

How will my child be able to contribute their views?

Pupil voice

With a strong ethos where pupils are at the heart of everything we do at The Chiltern School, attention to pupil voice has always been a golden thread to our policies, procedures and day-to-day life. We are a listening school. Your child's time at school is about their future. Therefore learning experiences need to be meaningful and purposeful to them. We aim to grow their aspirations and ensure these can be communicated in a way that is relevant for them.

We believe that every pupil has a voice which should be heard. We want your child to recognise they have a voice and they can share what is important to them. When pupils are involved in making decisions that affect their school lives, they are more engaged in their learning and more motivated to succeed. Involvement can take many forms, whether it be through demeanor, body language, eye gaze, gesture, signing, objects, photos, symbols, written language, spoken word, or combination of any of these.

At the root of all of this, to ensure pupil voice is interpreted accurately, relevant and meaningful, are strong relationships between pupils and staff. We get to know our pupils exceptionally well so that we can understand how they best learn, how they can best communicate and how best to facilitate opportunities to share their news, views, and feelings.

We endeavor to ensure/propose that our pupils' voice is heard through the following:

- Emotional expression is supported through a variety of means including attunement, observation, supported communication, emotional literacy supports, interoceptive awareness.
- Pupil representatives take an active part in interviewing new teachers and showing them around the school.
- Pupils' views sought in meal planning for school dinners.
- Pupils complete their own pupil voice contribution for annual reviews with familiar staff in the classroom and where appropriate, attend and present them at their meeting.
- Pupil voice for those that communicate in alternative ways than speech are supported to use visuals, tech, sign, gesture, and eye gaze to communicate their views. Attuned relationships with adults support this to be gathered in a meaningful way so that through careful observation, intensive interactions and trusted attuned relationships adults can gather and interpret communication from your child to ensure they are heard and understood.

- Evaluation strategies as appropriate to their age and stage of development at the end of lessons enable the children to reflect on their learning.
- Pupil representatives are involved in learning walks around the school alongside staff, so they can spot and comment on our thematic school evaluation including, our spiritual, moral, social and cultural development provision across the school.
- speaking with family members and education staff who spend the most time with the pupil and where appropriate through direct and formal assessments. When staff truly know a pupil well, their voice can be heard whether it be through staff identifying subtleties in the child's responses, demeanor,
- Pupil involvement in their own class expectations.

How will the school prepare and support my child to transfer to a new setting / the next stage of education or training / into adult life?

Children and young people move settings for a variety of reasons and therefore transitions may be possible at any point during their educational journey.

Transitions may happen mid-year, such as moving out of the area, or at the beginning of a new school year when moving on to a new setting. Often these transitions have been discussed for some time during wider meetings, or during the EHCP meeting as part of the process to review progress and provision.

From Year 9 (age 13) we will request consent for Youth Services to be invited to EHCP reviews. With your consent we will notify them of your child's next EHCP review with an aim of the service being present at the review and sharing what support is available in the future. Although they may not be actively involved for some time, this provides time for both the service and families to begin to think and plan ahead for support that may be required in the future.

As pupils reach Phase 3, more thought and discussion focuses on the years ahead and options available for post 16 education, including whether to remain at The Chiltern School is right for them. The curriculum provides a focus on Preparation for Adulthood from the earliest years, and as children and young people move through the school this becomes part of their aspirational voice. Linked to the ongoing work on pupil voice, we aim to work with families to ensure we feedback accurate and meaningful information on the needs, provision and progress of our pupils to help them make informed decisions with, and where appropriate for their children.

The most successful transitions are those where settings work together to share information to support the building of new relationships with young people and their families. We will engage with the admissions and transitions process offered by new settings and alongside this we:

- Share information on needs, provision and progress with your consent
- Attend meetings as requested

- Offer visits, assessments or observations to staff from settings to support their information gathering
 - Support visits or taster days where capacity allows
 - Use personalised resources and familiar approaches to support understanding, such as photos, symbols and transition books, social stories, Attention Autism techniques etc
 - Monitor wellbeing and ensure pupil voice is part of our information sharing across all levels of developmental need.

At The Chiltern School, pupils in Phase 3 are prepared and supported for a positive and smooth transition to the next stage of their education or training through a range of experiences. These include:

- A curriculum that is centred around preparing for adulthood which promotes choice of vocational study options, community interactions and transitions to a range of different environments and settings (as appropriate to the individual)
- Focused lessons and class discussions on understanding options of possible future pathways such as training providers, further education or apprenticeships
- Focused lessons, class discussions and practical role play scenarios on preparing for transition and recognising expectations on what will be different.
- Support with researching the different pathways and further education provisions available; such as virtual tours, understanding courses and facilities available
- A personalised careers guidance interview with a qualified careers advisor from which an action plan is produced and shared with the pupil, their parent/carer and class teacher.
- Meeting with the Youth Support Service advisor to talk about hopes and aspirations for the future. The Youth support service advisor is also able to support parents/carers with the application process and in liaising with further education providers.
- Discussions on their hopes and aspirations for the future within the annual EHCP review.
- Inviting representatives from potential pathways to meet and communicate with pupils.
- Meeting with a representative from the chosen pathway destination either virtually or in school; or where required, supporting the pupil to attend a taster experience day with the provider.

The pupil's teacher communicates with and shares information with the chosen destination to ensure that the transition is smooth. Parents are also supported to access support from the YAail (Young adults and Independent Living) team.

In addition, the school organises an in-house Careers and next steps transitions event in school annually. All local colleges and further education and training providers are invited to attend this event as well as guidance support services such as the Youth support service and YAail. This is an event that is open for all year 7 – 14 pupils and parents/carers to attend to be able to speak directly with provider representatives to make informed choices. Pupils are supported by school staff during the event to ask questions and gather information which is then followed up and explored within further class learning. For more details on our Careers Policy please click here.

Where pupils stay with us until the end of Year 14 we hope they find their transition manageable and enjoyable whether this is to education, training, employment or care providers. While we appreciate that these big changes can be unsettling, our aim is to make this next step as positive and exciting as possible, sharing experiences and promoting a can-do mindset where our young people believe they are ready and will be successful.

Who should I contact if I am considering whether The Chiltern School is a suitable setting for my child?

If you would like to find out more about the school or book a visit, please email placementenquiries@chiltern.beds.sch.uk

Or call 01582 866972

We operate virtual prospective parent meetings termly with the Headteacher to share information about our school. Due to the number of enquiries and with the needs of our children and young people always at the centre of what we do, we ask that parents attend a virtual meeting as a first step. School tours / visits are offered once parents have had the opportunity to hear about the school, ask direct questions about special school. consider if it's an option for them to reduce the number of disruptions to learning throughout the day. While we love to welcome visitors and are keen to show you our wonderful school, some children can find this overwhelming. Please be patient and understanding.
